00:46:39 New Pedagogies for Deep Learning: the link is at the top of the screen

00:47:50 Bailey Fullan: <http://bit.ly/2AsVtm9>

00:52:56 Bailey Fullan: To send messages to all participants, be sure to select all panelists and attendees

01:06:13 Melanie Meloche: Love student led - teacher framed... reminds me of effective play-based learning in our kindergarten programs.

01:09:29 Ms Limbada: could you kindly share the slides and recording with participants. I am definitely going to have to go through this again. its so important.

01:10:10 Ilene Winokur: Awesome and amazing insights and connections being made! Thank you for this webinar and for reimagining what education can be, advocating for change, and creating the pathway to transformation.

01:10:21 Bailey Fullan: We will be sharing the recording in the coming days at npdl.global

01:13:29 maxdrummy: all - we would welcome questions in the QA box any time!

01:18:25 maxdrummy: all - we would welcome further questions in the QA box any time!

01:25:26 Melanie Meloche: The introverts may not share all their experiences and struggles though... I see this in my eldest daughter.

01:25:40 Jenn Wroe: There are some students that find some of these "barriers" that are being removed (timelines, bells, crowded halls, etc) and are finding more room for learning

01:25:41 Mary Rivers: I had introverts more outgoing in their home environments

01:26:46 Margot McKeegan: From our NZ back at school lens -it is easy to revert to the status quo practices -challenge is to implement a hybrid model from the successes of our distance learning

01:27:36 Tom DAmico: Sick Kids -Recommendations for School Reopening -
<https://www.sickkids.ca/PDFs/About-SickKids/81407-COVID19-Recommendations-for-School-Reopening-SickKids.pdf>

01:27:39 Margot McKeegan: Students adapt to the physical set up of school really quickly they worked collaboratively in innovative ways

01:28:17 Melanie Meloche: I wonder what the students will suggest? Having their input will be valuable as we create community at the start of the year.

01:28:20 Jenn Wroe: outdoor learning

01:28:51 Kelly Young: When thinking of wellbeing of staff, we have found that teachers who are more willing to find and act on the 'silver linings' have been the ones who are innovating. As a result, their students are more connected, they are more engaged in authentic content and overall everyone in the learning process is thriving.

01:29:01 Margot McKeegan: Some schools in NZ change their play times - more chances to move and eat more regularly -short sharp learning times

01:29:16 Judy Fancher: Thank you Joanne, Max and Mag

01:29:45 Melanie Meloche: Would be so important to hear from systems and educators like in NZ who are living this experience right now.

01:30:06 Neerja Punjabi: Thank you! This was great learning. Realy

01:30:09 Wendy Macpherson: Great to have New Zealand and Australia starting to open up and share their experiences

01:30:21 Ilene Winokur: Thank you all! It was very enlightening and makes me hopeful about the future!

01:30:21 Margot McKeegan: Thanks GLOBAL team -Moving forward in a Deep Learning World - knowledge building partners thanks all

01:30:47 Dan Kenley: TTHANK YOU!!

01:30:49 Mary Rivers: Great webinar and very thought-provoking!

01:30:50 Jenn Wroe: Thank you so much...I am desperately wanting to embrace this opportunity!

01:31:00 Melanie Meloche: Well said Joanne. :)

01:31:08 Lisa Smith: Thank you! This was great!

01:31:12 Tom DAmico: Thanks for the push - we agree we need to spend time to listen - unlearn - relearn. Deep Learning framework tied to Equity and Well-being is a helpful framework for us to move forward.

01:31:13 Thomas Goodwin: Thank you!

01:31:17 Keryn Annan: Thank for for a really thought-provoking webinar!

01:31:18 Karl Clauset: Well done! Thank you.
